THE ALTAR SCREEN OF LLANO QUEMADO CHURCH IN THE ECCLESIASTICAL ROOM OF THE MUSEUM IN THE PALACE OF GOVERNORS IN SANTA FE

It was bought in the 20's when the villagers of Quemado, near Taos, decided to offer it for sale to finance a new roof for their little church. The altar screen is owned by the Spanish Colonial Arts Society.

Color Photography by George Thompson

Petley

Published by Petley Studios, P.O. Box 7495, Albuquerque, N. M.

202-70